

Medical Consultation Report

Summary:

Hello doctor i have been having fever for the last three days it started with mild temperature but now it goes up to around 101 sometimes and i feel very weak in my whole body also there is headache and sometimes chills especially in evening i am not feeling hungry at all and just lying down most of the time yes there is slight cough and throat pain but breathing is normal i was worried if this is something serious or just viral it looks like a viral infection for now you can take paracetamol. 500 milligrams tablet twice a day after food for fever and body ache also takes a terezine 10 milligrams at night if cold symptoms increase drink plenty of fluids like warm water soups and coconut water and take proper rest avoid cold drinks and outside food if fever does not come down in three days or goes above 102 then get a blood test including cbc and dengue test done.

Symptoms:

- headache
- fever
- chills

Medicines:

- paracetamol

Advice:

- Consult a doctor if symptoms persist.